Hey Jim-a-Long

Part of the rhythm of Hey Jim-a-Long has been written for you on these beat lines.
(Click on the audio file to hear this song sung with the words if required).

Sing the song as you point to the beat lines.

Sing the song a second time writing a stroke where you hear a sound (word) on a blank beat line.

You will have written three strokes on each beat line, showing three (unequal) sounds on a beat.

This rhythm is made up of two shorter notes at the start of the beat followed by a longer note.

It is another combination of two semiquavers - tika: and a quaver - ti:

$$\text{tika} + \text{ti} = \text{tika-ti}$$

= three unequal sounds on a beat.

Its rhythm name is tika-ti.

Complete the rhythmic shorthand of Hey Jim-a-Long on the beat lines above, then sing the song using rhythm names. (Click on the audio file to hear this song sung with the rhythm names if required).
